Memories of Faith and Reason

Dear SJC Alumni,

I am honored to write this letter as President of the Alumni Association, a role I officially stepped into last summer - 40 years after I graduated from Saint Joseph's College. Even then, I knew I wanted to give back to my alma mater, a place that was and still remains so special to me.

I want to thank my predecessor, Steve Ligda '62, for his seven years as President of the Alumni Association. We wish him success as the new Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

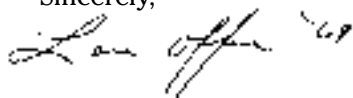

I spent 2009 Homecoming weekend with about 50 classmates from the classes of 1968 and 1969. It was a wonderful experience filled with memories of the past, and joy for the future, that we continue to experience as graduates. Members of those classes are blessed with a close relationship that has lasted almost 45 years. To be able to impart this joy to all alumni is what the Alumni Association is all about.

More than any financial contribution you make, your value to Saint Joseph's College can be most fully realized by getting involved. You can volunteer to attend a College Fair to help recruit future students. You can volunteer to attend Networking Receptions. And, you can also volunteer to serve on the Alumni Board.

If all alumni would commit to help in one way or another, we can sustain the Saint Joseph's College spirit and continue the legacy left by those who have gone before us. As volunteers, we also can acknowledge the debt we owe to the Missionaries of the Precious Blood for their service and tireless efforts.

As alumni, we have a tremendous responsibility to help sustain the institution that gave us so much more than a college degree. I strongly encourage you to stay connected to our beloved alma mater and to be active as an SJC alumnus or alumna.

Sincerely,

Lou Offer '69

A United Endeavor

John Nichols, STL, Ph.D., NEH Distinguished Professor and Professor of Philosophy at Saint Joseph's College, has spearheaded a nationwide workshop to publish a booklet on the benefit of general education in Catholic institutions. The Project on General Education and Mission (PGEM) is the driving force behind the brochure titled A United Endeavor: Promising Practices in General Education at Catholic Colleges and Universities. The publication will be distributed by the Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities (ACCU) and be featured at its annual meeting in February 2010.

Nichols said that the project, which started two years ago, will provide a resource from which universities may learn and grow. "Catholic colleges and universities don't have to exist," said Nichols. "We are founded in order to do something specific, according to our missions. General education is becoming a primary way of doing that."

The project not only exposed religious institutions to methods of general education, but also exposed participants to other mindsets. "Catholic general education, to be successful, must integrate academics, student life, and campus ministry," said Lezlie Oachs, English and Women's Studies professor and Director of General Education at the College of Saint Scholastica in Minnesota. "We are a Benedictine college. We realize that more lay people are serving the Catholic community, and in the Catholic tradition, we know that, 'there is a place for all voices at the table.'"

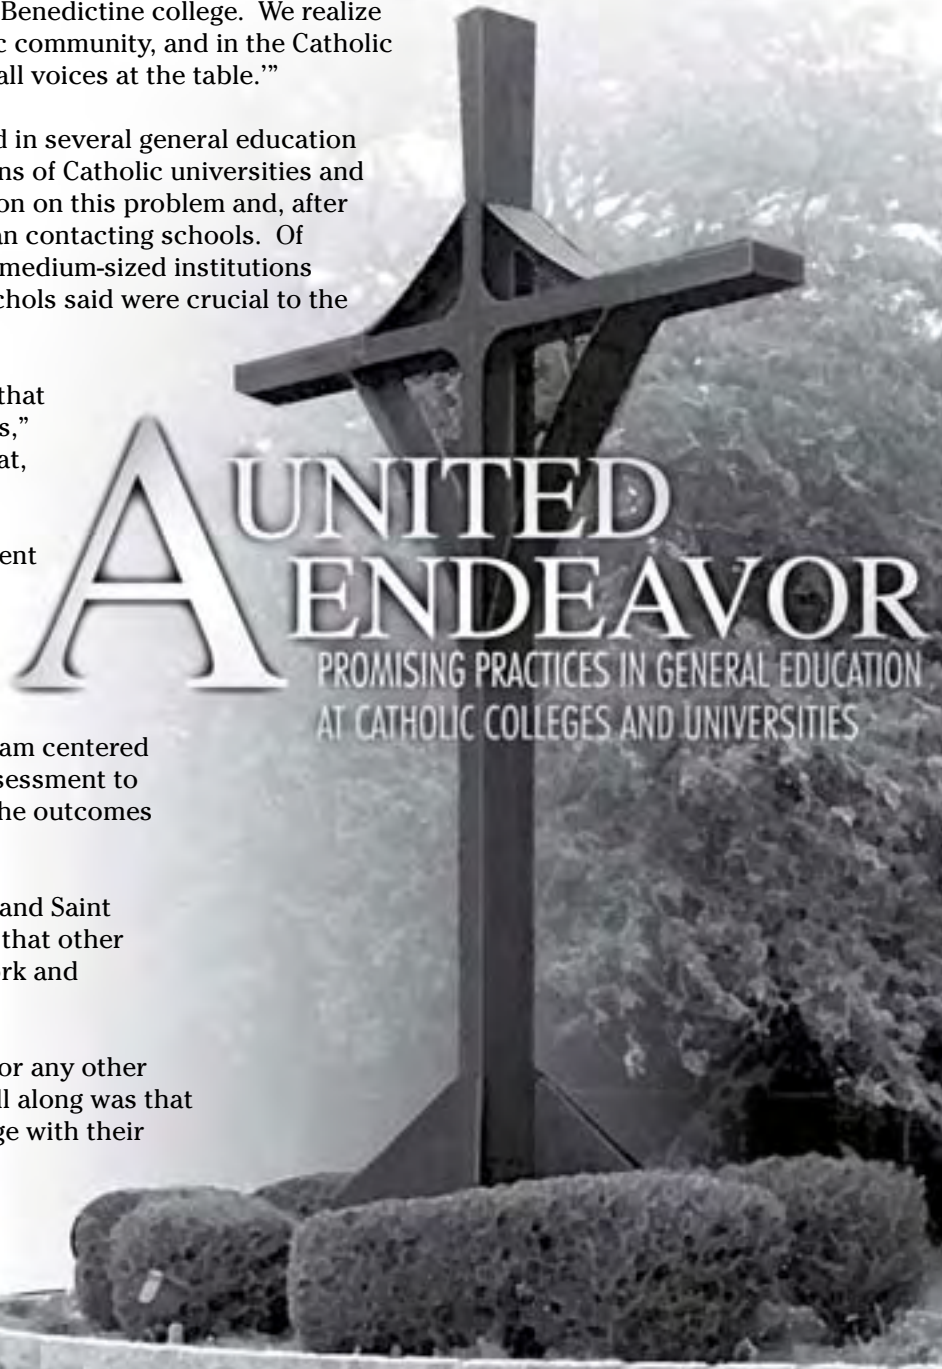

The project began when Nichols participated in several general education panels, none of which focused on the missions of Catholic universities and colleges. In 2005, Nichols made a presentation on this problem and, after securing a grant to support the project, began contacting schools. Of the 10 schools that became involved, all are medium-sized institutions founded by religious orders, aspects that Nichols said were crucial to the program's success.

"Mid-sized schools can really say the things that we want to accomplish will affect all students," said Nichols. "Not all institutions can say that, realistically."

The group decided that the best way to present a general education approach to other institutions was to develop a process that can be broken down into four steps. It starts with the mission of any institution, then works on figuring out the desired outcome of that mission, working on a program centered on that outcome, and then developing an assessment to determine how well students are achieving the outcomes and executing the mission.

The product is available now through ACCU and Saint Joseph's College's Web sites. Nichols hopes that other schools can learn from the Project's hard work and experience.

"It's not just good for Saint Joseph's College or any other single institution," said Nichols. "The idea all along was that these 10 schools would share their knowledge with their colleagues."

HIKE FOR MIKE

Mike Williams '72, who resides in Vienna, VA and teaches earth science at Broad Run High School, will hike 1,000 miles along the Appalachian Trail to raise additional funds for the renovation and outfitting of a multi-purpose room at Saint Joseph's College dedicated to Professor Emeritus of Geology Michael Davis. Margaret "Peggy" (Weatherhead) Guccione's '69 pledge to the multi-purpose room motivated Williams, a former student of Davis', to plan the hike.

Williams' trek began in mid-July at Skyland Campgrounds in the Shenandoah National Park and took approximately 20 days. The hike covered 202 miles and ended at Troutville, Virginia. Each summer, Williams will continue along a different part of the trail. He plans to hike south for the first three years, and then hike north toward Harper's Ferry for the fourth and fifth years. The trail itself runs for 2,165 miles, from Springer Mountain in Georgia to Maine, and is maintained by different hiking clubs in each area.

Even though high school football is one of Indiana's pastimes, there are some schools that don't participate. That changed for one community when Saint Joseph's College alumnus Doug Knutson '79, Boone Grove High School's athletic director, started the BGHS program from scratch.

DOUG KNUTSON '79

"Pop Warner football came here a few years ago," said Knutson. "They started using our facilities. Last fall, when the group expanded, we would see kids walking in the halls with jerseys on. The principal and I decided it was time to do something."

The team, which is currently playing at a junior varsity level, hopes to be varsity by 2010. Knutson said that the program fills a need in the community. "After talking to a lot of people, we found that the community had been waiting for this to happen," said Knutson. "We promised to keep everyone safe, fundraise the initial costs, and give everyone an opportunity to play."

Knutson, a former SJC football player and coach, says that even though he has been at Boone Grove for over a decade and will forever be part of their football program's history, said that his allegiance hasn't really changed. "The SJC purple and cardinal are still in my blood," said Knutson. "The things I learned there are helping me now, no doubt."

Taking Advantage of Veteran Benefits

In the aftermath of 9/11, the United States government has teamed with colleges and universities throughout the country to provide veterans with an education. Saint Joseph's College is one of the many institutions that reaches out to veterans and helps them receive the education they deserve. The Chapter 31 Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment Program, which helps veterans with service-connected disabilities and employment handicaps prepare for, find, and keep suitable jobs, has given Sgt. Terry Youngblood the chance to attend SJC. Like many veterans, he has decided to take advantage of this opportunity, and in August 2009, Youngblood arrived at Saint Joseph's College to begin classes for what is sure to be a very rewarding experience.

Growing up in the small town of Saybrook, Ill., Terry Youngblood seemed destined to join the military. He spent much of his childhood watching army television shows and playing with G.I. Joe, and his father spent some time in the service. Two years after he graduated from high school in 1976, Youngblood joined the Navy. "When I joined the service, I saw it as a way of getting out of a small town and ahead in life, a way to learn something new," said Youngblood.

During his four years in the U.S. Navy, Sgt. Youngblood worked as an Aircraft Structural Mechanic, working on airframes and hydraulics. Stationed in China Lake, Calif., Youngblood worked on aircraft such as UH-1 helicopters and fighter jets, including the A-4, A-7, A-6, OV-10 Bronco, F-4, and C-131. Youngblood then switched from the Navy to the Army Reserves, and eventually to active duty. He worked in Chemical Operations, where he tested biological and chemical weaponry, created smokescreens, and helped predict where nuclear fallouts were most likely to occur. Sgt. Youngblood went on to serve in the Army for 14 ½ years.

After 18 ½ years of service, Youngblood went to work in a factory, but due to a heart condition which left him 100% disabled, he was laid off. Instead of seeing this as a curse, however, Youngblood saw it as a chance for a career change. He came to Saint Joseph's College and is working toward a Medical Technology degree, and after completing his education he hopes to work at a VA lab in Danville, Ill. As for life at SJC, Youngblood has nothing but great things to say.

"I love it here," said Youngblood. "The staff and faculty are enjoyable and I have great classmates. Often times, larger schools and universities are hostile towards the military, and I also don't like the idea of having such large class sizes. SJC is close to my home [Kentland, Ind.], and being here makes me feel like I'm a part of a big family. It's a very relaxing atmosphere."

For all the veterans out there who would like to go back to school but are afraid to, and even for those who haven't considered the idea, Sgt. Youngblood offered some words of advice.

"Just do it. Going back to school is a big change and can be intimidating, but the experience will be what you make of it. If you put in the effort, you will get the results you want."

Much like Robert Frost, Sgt. Youngblood has taken "the road less traveled." And although he hasn't reached the end of that road, he will tell you "that has made all the difference."

The Rensselaer Program of Church Music and Liturgy Celebrates 50 Years of Service

The Rensselaer Program of Church Music and Liturgy will celebrate a half-century of summer study in liturgy and church music next July during the 2010 National Convention of the National Association of Pastoral Musicians in Detroit. The golden jubilee will be highlighted in a number of events, including a three-part “Rensselaer Jubilee Lectures” series that will chronicle developments in liturgical music since Vatican II, Wednesday Morning Prayer led by the SJC Summer Chorus, a plenum address by director Dr. Steven Janco, and a festive reception for students, alumni, current and former faculty members, and invited guests. Though the program may not be well-known to many SJC undergraduates and faculty, it has for years enjoyed a national reputation as a leading program of formation for pastoral musicians and liturgists.

Originally called the Saint Joseph’s Institute of Liturgical Music, the program was the fulfillment of a dream of Rev. Lawrence Heiman, C.P.P.S., who returned from graduate studies at Musica Sacra in Rome with an idea to develop in the United States a similar educational program focused on Gregorian Chant and polyphony. Together with classmate Rev. Eugene Lindusky, O.S.C., noted composer and organist Noël Goemanne, and liturgist Rev. Robert Lechner, C.P.P.S., Fr. Heiman launched the program in the summer of 1960 with twenty-five students. Within five years the number of students and faculty had more than doubled. Dr. John and Anne-Marie Egan joined the SJC faculty in 1962 - John teaching theory, composition, and organ, and Anne-Marie teaching theory and piano. John Egan, who served as music department chair at SJC until 2008, continues to teach in the Rensselaer Program today. The summer faculty has always included full-time SJC professors as well as specialists who come to Rensselaer just for the summer term. The Rensselaer Program has been served by four directors: Fr. Heiman (1960-1993), Rev. James Challancin (1994-2000), Rev. Keith Branson, C.P.P.S. (2001-2005), and Dr. Steven Janco (2006-present).

Dr. Steven R. Janco (below) was installed as the fourth director of the Rensselaer Program at the 2006 Summer Commencement.

Though the Rensselaer Program initially focused on chant and polyphony, it evolved and adapted in response to Vatican II reforms and the changing musical needs of the Church. After the promulgation of the Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy in 1963 and with vernacular liturgy on the horizon, SJC faculty and students took on the task of translating and adapting antiphons from the Graduale Romanum, the Church’s Latin songbook, for “experimental” use in the vernacular liturgy. Published by World Library of Sacred Music in 1964, Complete English Propers for the High Mass was the first volume of a new John XXIII Series of Liturgical Music edited by SJC summer faculty. The John XXIII Series also included a series of volumes of Latin motets in English translation. One of these volumes, Ten Renaissance Motets in English: Volume Four, is still available in the World Library Publications catalog today.

The Rensselaer Program embraced the cultural diversity of the U.S. Church long before the term “multicultural” became commonplace in our liturgical lexicon. For several years SJC partnered with the National Office for Black Catholics and hosted in Rensselaer an annual six-day workshop on African American liturgy and liturgical music. These workshops were led by legendary composer and liturgist, Rev. Clarence Rivers, as well as well-known conductors, Avon Gillespie and Robert Ray, whose Gospel Mass still is performed by concert choirs today. More than 100 participants attended these workshops in the mid-1970s.

It is no overstatement to say that alumni and faculty of the Rensselaer Program have played—and continue to play—a significant role in the liturgical life of the Church in the U.S. Joselyn Brenner, O.S.F., one of the first graduates of the program, founded the Office of Worship in the Archdiocese of Omaha and later served as a consultant to the Bishops’ Committee on the Liturgy (now Divine Worship) and as a member of the music committee of the Federation of Diocesan Liturgical Commissions. Luanne Durst, O.S.F., another early graduate, served for a number of years on the staff of the BCL Secretariat in Washington. Recent alumni and former students currently serve in diocesan worship offices in Detroit; Chicago; Seattle; and Lafayette, Ind. Music directors at the cathedrals in Detroit; Green Bay; Manchester, NH; and Dubuque, IA, are recent SJC graduates. A number of well-known liturgical composers studied at SJC, including Rev. John Schiavone, Kevin Keil, Carey Landry, James Hansen, and Rev. Ralph Verdi, C.P.P.S. Fr. Verdi also served for many years as theory and composition professor at SJC. Hymn writer Delores Dufner, OSB, author of the well-known hymn "Sing a New Church," is another distinguished graduate of the program.

From the beginning, the Rensselaer Program has insisted that church musicians must receive thorough training in liturgy. The program continues the same "both/and" focus today in its two graduate degree programs. The Master of Arts in Music (concentration: church music and liturgy) allows students to pursue one of six performance emphases (conducting, voice, organ, piano, composition, or ensemble music) as part of an integrated course of study in church music and liturgy. The Master of Arts in Pastoral Liturgy and Music, added to the SJC catalog in 2001, provides foundational coursework in church music and greater breadth of study in liturgy. A three-summer course of study leading to the Diploma in Pastoral Liturgy is also available.

One of the distinguishing features of the Rensselaer Program has been its practical, pastoral focus. Grounded in the Church's liturgical tradition and documents, the program seeks to help students develop the expertise, skills and strategies necessary to promote effective liturgical celebration in parishes. Rather than promoting one musical or liturgical "ideal," the program recognizes the cultural diversity of the Church in the United States and considers the variety of pastoral settings in which liturgy is celebrated. The goal of the program is to form capable pastoral ministers who are able to work collaboratively, embrace diversity thoughtfully, deal with change patiently, and serve humbly with a pastoral heart.

The program's month-long, summers-only format is well-suited to the program's practical focus, facilitating a praxis-theory-praxis learning model. At the end of July each year, students return to ministry to put into practice what they've learned. The following summer they return for further study with new questions and with the benefit of another year of experience. Most graduate students complete the M.A. in four or five summers.

The Rensselaer Program continues to grow and evolve in response to new needs and challenges. In recent years an ensemble music emphasis was added, enabling guitar and flute players to pursue the M.A. in Music. In 2006 the program began offering, for continuing education credit, several three-day Liturgy Intensives that provide more depth than a one-hour convention workshop or daylong seminar can provide. Approval of Sing to the Lord: Music in Divine Worship by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops in 2007 offered an opportunity to take the Rensselaer Program on the road. In 2008 the program co-sponsored a "study day" on the document in the Archdiocese of Chicago and similar days in the midwestern dioceses of Springfield, Grand Rapids, and Lafayette. Fr. Columba Kelly, O.S.B, continues the program's long-standing commitment to Gregorian Chant as leader of the program's annual three-day Gregorian Chant Institute.

Though there is much to celebrate as the Rensselaer Program of Church Music and Liturgy looks back on 50 years of service, College administrators and faculty remain focused on the program's ongoing mission to provide the kind of integrated liturgical, musical, and pastoral formation described by the U.S. bishops in Sing to the Lord. One of the highlights of the jubilee year will be the awarding of the first Precious Blood Sisters Scholarship to a new graduate student. The scholarship is made possible by a recent gift from the Precious Blood Sisters of Dayton, Ohio. In remarks made at the program's annual Summer Chorus concert on July 25, Joyce Ann Zimmerman, C.P.P.S., praised the program's pastoral focus and solid reputation, and expressed hope that the sisters' gift will help the program continue to flourish in the future. SJC also awards an annual scholarship made possible by a gift from Peter Bahou, president of Peter's Way Choir Tours, and a scholarship sponsored jointly by SJC and the National Association of Pastoral Musicians.

Fr. Heiman, now retired, has always been fond of saying that a unique "Rensselaer spirit" is present at Saint Joseph's College during the summer. As the Rensselaer Program of Church Music and Liturgy begins its next half-century of service, that spirit remains as strong and vibrant as ever.

Saint Joseph's College Installs 17th President

RENSSELAER, Ind. – Saint Joseph's College officially installed its 17th president, Dr. F. Dennis Riegelneegg, on September 18th, in an afternoon Mass in the Saint Joseph's Chapel. The joyous ceremony was officiated by Bishop William Higi, V. Rev. Angelo Anthony, C.P.P.S. '84 served as homilist, Deacon John Jezierski participated, and seven Missionaries of the Precious Blood concelebrated.

The ceremony included music provided by the SJC Chamber Singers and Herald Trumpeters; symbolic gifts presented from various constituencies, including students, faculty, staff, alumni, and members of the Rensselaer community, as well as prayers offered by members of the campus community.

In his remarks, Riegelneegg stressed the importance of the occasion not just for himself and his family, but for the entire SJC community. "Though this has been seen by some as a celebration for me, I see it as a celebration for you," said Riegelneegg. "We here are a close family. Close families do not fail."

Riegelneegg also spoke of the commitment that the entire SJC community must embrace. "We must challenge ourselves, like never before, to create a Saint Joseph's College that is a great place to work, learn, and live," said Riegelneegg. "You, in part, will help achieve this vision."

Riegelneegg becomes the College's 17th president and its third lay president. He started work July 1st. He comes to SJC from Saint Francis University in Loretto, Penn. He holds a doctorate in Administration and Policy Studies in Higher Education from the University of Pittsburgh; a master's degree in Guidance and Counseling, and a bachelor of arts degree in Political Science, along with teaching certification in secondary education from Slippery Rock University of Pennsylvania.

The following is an interview with Saint Joseph's College President, Dr. F. Dennis Riegelneegg. With the struggling economy, SJC, like many other colleges, has been affected financially. However, a lot of time and energy have been invested, ensuring the security of SJC and its students - mainly due to the support of alumni, parents, and friends of the College. Despite the struggles, we and the rest of the country's institutions have faced, SJC is on the rise and will continue to be a strong and resilient institution for years to come.

An Interview with President Riegelneegg

Contact Magazine (CM): What has been the impact of the national economy on the SJC endowment?

F. Dennis Riegelneegg (FDR): Our endowment was significantly impacted by the recession and the downturn in the stock market. We were smart in our investing, so it didn't have as much of an impact as some other colleges and institutions. Also, much of our endowment value is land-based. We've seen a strong comeback as the market has improved and our endowment value has risen in step with the market climb.

CM: In addition to the endowment what other factors impact our annual budget?

FDR: While endowment is important in the long-term, enrollment is the most significant factor for generating current revenue. On the expense side, scholarships and institutional aid awarded are very important considerations, as are personnel costs. Unfortunately, we did not meet last year's enrollment goal, which has negatively impacted the budget and caused us to 'tighten our belts' another notch.

CM: Despite the economic challenges of the last year, was the College able to end the 2008-2009 fiscal year with a balanced budget?

FDR: We were able to do that. Through hard work and very judicious budgeting by a very responsible faculty and staff, we were able to finish with a balanced budget. We really did end the year on a positive note. I have to thank the people who work here for being so resourceful.

CM: What would you say to constituents who might be concerned about the College's financial status in this difficult economic climate?

FDR: We all should be concerned. Not to be concerned would be foolish, but there is no reason for panic. We're working to utilize our resources in the best possible fashion, as well as continuing to look for new resources.

CM: What are some of the steps taken to help strengthen SJC for the future?

FDR: One thing is we have to continue to tell SJC's story, and one of the parts of that story is the value of a Saint Joseph's College education. The value to students really justifies the expense involved. We have to get that message out to the campus community, to our alumni and friends, but in particular, we must tell the current and prospective students and parents about the tremendous value of the education we provide.

One of the most important things is that we budget in a very careful, precise manner. We focus on the things that are most important to us and continue to fund them, and the things that aren't central to our mission get reviewed again. Our friends, alumni, and parents have come forward and said that they still want to make a commitment to the institution, especially to the endowment. They have continued to help the institution, especially the students at the institution, in their support of the 21st Century Campaign and in their support of the College Fund each year.

CM: Do you have any final thoughts regarding the challenges that face Saint Joseph's College in the coming months?

FDR: SJC has seen other periods where we've worked through financial difficulties or other periods where we haven't attained the enrollment goals we've targeted. We've worked through that. Saint Joseph's College has been here for 120 years, and it will be here for many more years to come. In all that I do, I'm really thinking about positioning the College for the next 100 years.

In the pages that follow, you will find the 2009 Honor Roll of Donors listing the College supporters from July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2009. This past fiscal year presented SJC with a number of challenges and opportunities leaving the College with many new beginnings at the dawn of fiscal year 2009-2010.

On one hand, the tumultuous nature of the national economic climate has presented setbacks including a drop in our alumni participation rate from 27% in fiscal year 2007-2008 to 24% in fiscal year 2008-2009. While our thoughts and prayers go out to all who are experiencing financial difficulties, we remain very grateful for those who were able to continue their support of SJC during the challenges of the past year.

On the other hand, there are still many blessings to be counted. On July 1, 2009 SJC began a new chapter in its history under the leadership of President F. Dennis Riegelneegg. In August, Saint Joseph's College rose in the U.S. News and World Report "Best College" rankings from 28th to 25th. Contributing factors to this ranking include, but are not limited to, peer assessment, student retention, and alumni donor participation rate. As we continue our upward climb toward our goal of 30% alumni donor participation by 2012, we hope to see our spot in such rankings rise as well.

Thanks to the many contributors who joined in our fundraising efforts this year – whether in support of the College Fund and/or the 21st Century Campaign. In the end, it's all about support of Saint Joseph's College.

If, by our error, your name did not get listed – we offer our apologies and ask that you contact us at (800)227-1898 or e-mail nschafer@saintjoe.edu.

16 All the best,

Nicholas T. Schafer '03

ENCORE!

The charitable IRA legislation is back for a repeat performance - don't miss this second-chance opportunity to make tax-free gifts from your IRA.

The Government is Providing You With an Outstanding Way to Help SJC

If you're looking for the most tax-effective gift to make to SJC, Congress has extended a law that allows individuals 70 ½ or older to make tax-free gifts now to qualified charitable organizations using funds transferred directly from their IRAs. You can transfer any amount up to $100,000 per individual until December 31, 2009.

Music to Your Ears

- The transfer counts toward your minimum required distribution as long as you have not yet received your distribution for the year.
- The transfer generates neither taxable income nor a tax deduction, so you will benefit even if you do not itemize your tax deductions.
- You can witness the difference your philanthropic dollars make to the College.

We Can Help

Don't let this tax-wise opportunity pass you by. If you have a question, need more information or would like to make a gift, please contact Jerry Lasko '70. We look forward to hearing from you.

Saint Joseph's Basketball Schedule Announced

Saint Joseph's College men's basketball coach Richard Davis has announced the 2009-2010 basketball schedule.

An SJC team that played a majority of their non-conference games on the road last season is prepared to enjoy the comforts of Richard F. Scharf Alumni Fieldhouse this season.

Before the regular season began, the Pumas battled in two exhibition games. On November 7th, SJC played the Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis (IUPUI) Jaguars in Indianapolis. Despite the 62-86 final score, the Pumas showed productivity inside the paint, an area they are hoping to develop throughout the course of the season. SJC also received significant minutes and contributions from its bench players.

On November 9th, the Pumas entered storied Assembly Hall in Bloomington, IN as they took the court against the Indiana University Hoosiers. The Pumas got into foul trouble early and shot poorly in the second half, leading to a 95-67 loss.

SJC, the defending Lake Erie Tip-Off Tournament Champions, will open their season once again in Cleveland, Ohio before opening the door to Richard F. Scharf Alumni Fieldhouse November 21st against Ferris State in the home opener. Three days later, the Lakers of Grand Valley State will travel to Rensselaer. GVSU is two years removed from a near-historic run where they won over 30 games.

The Pumas will continue their six-game homestand as they entertain their first GLVC opponent of the season December 3rd in Drury University. The Panthers defeated the Pumas last season at Richard F. Scharf Alumni Fieldhouse 80-71.

Before the New Year, SJC will bask in the Sunshine State as they visit former coach Linc Darner at the Holiday Inn/Ledger Classic at Florida Southern College in Lakeland, Florida. The Pumas upset the second-ranked team in the country, South Carolina-Aiken, last season at the event and anticipate more high-profile matchups this winter.

The Pumas will end their season with five of seven games on the road, with six of those games against GLVC opponents. As they look to posture themselves for a host site in the GLVC Tournament, the Pumas will have to play that stretch of games to their optimum potential. Those games will also have a significant effect on SJC's regional ranking and road victories are always impressive to have on a resume.

"We are always excited for the start of the season, but this year even more so because of what we have coming back and what we have coming in," said Coach Davis. "If things go right and the guys work hard, it could be a special season. In order to be an elite team, we will have to win games on the road. We have a mature group that is capable of winning games and we should be beating some teams we weren't expected to."

Baseball Players

Still Pursuing Big League Dreams

Over the course of his tenure at Saint Joseph's College, head baseball coach Rick O'Dette '99 has had a number of players attempt to pursue a career in professional baseball. Currently there are five players still chasing their aspirations of a career as a professional athlete.

"We are proud of our alumni," said Coach O'Dette. "Although we are an NCAA Division II program, we try to model ourselves after the successful Division I institutions. Our staff works tirelessly in finding top quality players that can compete at any level. I feel that is why we are a regular stop for major league scouts throughout the spring."

In the 2009 Major League Baseball Draft, Mike Pericht became the second highest draft pick in school history, as he was selected in the 16th round by the Los Angeles Dodgers. After signing a contract, Pericht went to single-A baseball in Glendale, Arizona, where he spent the rest of his summer. He played in 35 games, hitting four homeruns and 19 RBIs.

Pericht, back on the campus of Saint Joseph's College this fall, spent most of his days conditioning in preparation for instructional league in mid-October. Instructional league is by invitation only and is reserved for the top prospects within a team's organization.

The transition into professional baseball is one Pericht is eagerly making. "You learn how to play the game," said Pericht. "You can tell who has experience, whether you're playing against foreign players or guys just out of high school. Some have not adjusted to the amount of conditioning and practice you get at a college program because it is more intense at this level. We work out before games and travel days with an emphasis on stabilization exercises."

Teammate Shane Zegarac '10, drafted in the 42nd round by the Texas Rangers, went to their single-A affiliate in Spokane, Washington. As he explains, while the road may sound like an opportunity to see America, he doesn't get a chance to be a tourist.

"You do not really appreciate the surroundings," said Zegarac. "You barely have time to look out the window and see the landmarks because you're going to the park every day. There are a lot of games, a number of experiences, and an enjoyable time."

Zegarac is back on campus this fall attending classes and finishing work on his degree in Sports Management. In addition, Zegarac is assisting with the SJC baseball program as well as conditioning himself for spring training with the Rangers.

Pericht and Zegarac are not the only former SJC baseball players pursuing a career in professional baseball. Mike Victor '06, after graduating SJC, signed with the Southern Illinois Miners, where he spent two seasons. In 2009, he moved to Traverse City, Michigan, where he helped the Beach Bums to a 42-53 record in the East Division of the Frontier League. Victor played in 74 games this past season, hitting .259 with eight homeruns and 38 RBIs. Always known for having a good bat, Victor was a career .300 hitter for the Pumas as he racked up the fourth highest total for hits in a career while in an SJC uniform.

Matt Enderle '07 graduated from SJC and progressed into the Frontier League's Rockford, Illinois organization. This season, the Riverhawks posted a mark of 44-50 in the West Division. Enderle made 21 appearances, starting four games, posting a 2-1 record with a 4.88 ERA. His senior year, he helped the Pumas to a 30-21 record as he posted an 8-3 mark on the season.

Eric Fussell '06, formerly of the Windy City Thunderbolts, has recently signed with the Edmonton Capitals of the Northern League. Fussell, who has not pitched in nearly a year due to a shoulder injury, is being reunited with his former manager, Brent Bowers. His last full season with the Thunderbolts was 2007, where the team finished with a record of 68-28 and won the Frontier League. Fussell posted a 12-2 record and a 3.26 ERA in 19 starts. He pitched 113.1 innings while striking out 66 batters in the 2007 season.

"Currently, those five guys making an attempt to play as professionals truly show what determination and work ethic can provide," commented O'Dette. "Playing professionally is a tough endeavor to succeed in, but if a player is willing to put in the work and be patient while climbing the ladder, there will be plenty of options."

SAINT JOSEPH'S COLLEGE

Greetings from the Office of Admissions

I'm writing to introduce myself and engage you as an Alumni Volunteer in our efforts to recruit excellent students to SJC.

I ask you to take any opportunity you have to tell high school students and their families about the College and your experiences as a Puma. Communicate to them the lifelong relationships you made with classmates and professors. Help them to realize the significance of a Saint Joseph's College education and convey to them how great it is to be a part of the Puma family.

If you know any high school seniors who would be a great fit for SJC, you, as an alumnus or alumna, have the ability to waive the $25.00 application fee. Or, you can let the student know about the free online application.

The Office of Admissions is working diligently to recruit the future students of SJC, but your support as an Alumni Volunteer is a key component to sustaining the life of the College. If at any time you have questions or know of a prospective student you would like the Office of Admissions to get in touch with, please feel free to contact me. If you are not already an Alumni Volunteer, please visit www.saintjoe.edu/alumni and become one. I look forward to working with you and please take any opportunity you have to share your love of the College with prospective Pumas.

Sincerely,

Megan Dorton
